

CASE STUDY

How we built the record-breaking Black Friday email campaign at Passion.io.

Same list. Sharper plan.

THE ASK

Make Black Friday 2025 the best one on record for Passion.io without increasing the send volume.

The list was already working hard. The job was to make it work smarter.

THE FIRST CALL

We split the list into three groups by behaviour, not by tag.

Recent buyers. Quiet buyers. Leads who never bought.

RECENT BUYERS GOT A THANK-YOU WINDOW

Twenty-four hours of early access before the public launch.

A short, warm email that said thank you for already being here.

QUIET BUYERS GOT A SPECIFIC PRODUCT PICK

Not the broad sale.

One product, picked based on what they had looked at in the past.

NON-BUYERS GOT THE FULL SEQUENCE

A standard four-touch Black Friday sequence with the biggest offer.

The one that gets the list moving.

THE CADENCE DETAIL THAT MATTERED

Each group sent at their own best historical open window.

Not the same time every day for the whole list.

THE RESULT

The best Black Friday on record for Passion.io.

The recent-buyer group drove the majority of the revenue on a small share of the total sends.

Want help planning your Black Friday email campaign?

Book a free call with me. Link in bio.

@muddassir